PUBLISHER'S NOTICE.

THIS WORK was commenced in November, 1861, the computation of the author then being that it could be comprised in one thousand! four hundred pages, and would occupy two years. Many unlooked for obstructions, chi fly of a typo- and Agencies. graphical nature, nuterially retarded the progress of the work in the first justance, and these being overcome, the author discovered that he had underestimated the extent and the importance of the rost task he had undertaken, and that it! would occupy fully double the time and space which he had at the outset computed. The publication of a work of such magnitude, and presenting to many and such varied obstacles." seldom falls to the limited res urges of one single And ridual, as occurs in this case. The first part of the work is now issued, partly at the request of the author and partly to afford the Boreign Community of China an apportunity of extending that assistance to the publisher, which under the circumstances is usually so freely accorded. The price of the book complete, will be $30, and it will be published in four parts at $7.50 each. But this objection presents itself to the sale of the parts separately, should the purchaser of one or more parts not take the others, a number of incomplete, and consequently valueless, copies will be left on the publisher's hands. To remedy this objection, in consideration of the circum-Maniscs already alluded to, it is hoped that those who see fit to patronice the undertaking by purchasing the first part, will not object to signing an oughgement to take the remaining parts as they appear, or should they prefer it, to pay for the enhte work in advance. ORDINANCE FOR 1865.

	Extracts.
-	The Limited Linbillty Act.
	(From the Times.) Some time has elapsed since the Act for Limiter Libbility in commercial partnerships came to operation. It will be remembered, perhaps out great public benefits were anticipated from ۱i	is measure, and that, though ortain objections are alwanced, the arguments in behalf of the r	opposed legislation desidedly preponderated. It is said, in the first place, that cripital would be me plantiful, and that enterprise would be accor-
٠,	ne planting, and industry encouraged. This, fact, was the chief recommends into all the pro-	١
í	ngal. It was plainly shown, and, indeed, could be denied, that if the savings of the industria-	١
	us classes could be collected as it were in reser-	ļ ı	ary irrigation of the field of enterprise, must be onderive to employment of all kinds. Up to that ime the indefiniteness of Liability stood in the	E ray of such investments, for monof ordinary pru- ence and small means untirally shrank from indering pecuniary responsibilities which they were mable to measure. If £10 could be ataked on the	1
ļ	andition that, at worst, the £10 could be but out the speculation might be allowable; but if, resides this £10, as much again, or more, might	ŀ Repwinds he demanded without limit or end. the lisk was 100 great to be accepted. This formidaole rick the Limited Liability Act would remove, and so bring hourded money into the market. That was the first calculation, and on this follow-	ı
•	d the expected improvement of the rate of in-	}
1	rested would, it was said, he worth much more han three ner cent. since it would be expended ľ	ipon underlakings immediately useful and re- nunerative. In this way the two classes of noney-lenders, and money-horrowers, would be	,
1	herefred together, nor, indeed was it even argued that any class except the possible creditors of the	. !
1	new concerns could be expected so any injury. I he security of those who treated such concerns would, indless anglession of new companies outed as many considering as they desired. Capital was obtain-t	ble for scheme, which in the ordinary state of he markes would have met with but little support. New establishments were ready with funds for any andertaking, however coally, provided the pros-	,

Į	ornmised enhancement in the rate of interest was, o all appearance, fully realized. The old figures
1	of three four, or live per c of, were superspect	֡

1	by the operation of the Act, and if, therefore, we were to terminate our inquiries at this point, it	• might seem as if pobudy could regree the easily as but two many readers know, lasses supper colomitons have been experienced, and the finen-	• cial embarrarements incidental to this Limitation of Linbility have equalled any known under the old system of unlimited risk. One source of	• ı	these misfortunes may be found in the very glu- of capital which the new system created. There	ŧ was, in one sense, too much money to the market and the rise in its correct value, only made mat-	•
1	ters worse, Instead of one Bank or Quopapy for lending money, there were a desca, and of course	o.
:	they were competitors for the custom of the public that is, of borrowers. The borrowers, therefore, got hetter terms, but the advantage they	T obtained with not in the rate of interest, but in the	Z
1	to pay, more highly than ever for the use of money but they gave less assurance for the safety of the principal. To some extent this was a necessary	•
1	They looked for a rate of interest incompatible	À
1	with sound security, for the two southings, o	•

	system without even that security which the Ac-	0 invision might be unfortunate, and that his in	· bis a contingency after the Act was passed, a before but it was at any rate, assumed as cer tain that with this loss the Lisbility would ter minate, and that no further demands could be made upon the loser. Uchappily, thousands a	/\ F now experiencing the inconvenience of new cal-	i ever the old practice of unlimited blacking with more suffering than we have re-	C cently wit essed. The explanation of this an muly lies in the difference established by the ne campanies between their actual and their capit originally paid up—hotween the whole amount of this sha	× in the market. A Company would be then with a conital of £1,000,000, constituted, let;	t shares £5 only would by paid up, giving a capi of £250,000, sufficient, according to the as-um	i c tion, for the requirements of the discours. If) as of £5 instead of £20 each, and an investor at ing £500 to dispose of would unhesitatingly h one hundred of these shares instead of twent five. That was the common practice, but result was to leave the Lisbility of the invest	ij practically speaking, without any limitation at 1	D L render the purchaser still liable to be called up for a auto three times as large as the origin	יינ וו purchase-money, so that though there was dead an ultimate limit to his Liability it wo not be reached until he had paid for his inve	Ц ment four times over. Worse than that wo meyer came of Liability altogether unlimited.	Ų thus the notical result is, that the shareholders not uncossing congerns find themselves practice	3 no better off than they would have been un the avatem of patt times. This is the source the difficulties now experiment. The Ut	þ first calls ton low, and the investore who tennes too often aveilooked this difference a gether. The accuraty contemplated by the Act	11 only be effectually enjoyed when the paid up of shareho'der in a "Limited" Company is, ha no doubt, only for the amount of his shares, no more; but if when he buys these shores he pout their amount, but only a fraction of it, he mains still liable to pay the remainder, and it is ignorant or careless of this fact he exposes him	31 reactically to all the dangers of unlimited Liabi We trust the lesson new learnt will not be The difficulty was never foreseen, and the surp	ļ
9	has been distressing, but there is nothing in	ļ of the Act itself. Free Trade in money ough	ľ
